MAINE REPUBLICAN BY OVER 13,000

Clean Sweep in State Election and Maine Went Just Like It Did for Governor Kent of Happy Memory.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Augusta, Me., Sept. 12.—The Republicans made a clean sweep in the Maine election yesterday. They elected the governor, two United States senators, the entire congressional delegation of four members, a state auditor, and by wresting control of the Maine house from the Democrats, will be able on a joint ballot of the legislature to elect the other state officers not chosen by popular vote.

Later returns today increased most of the Republican margins of victory. The total vote was the second highest Maine vote on record, and final returns may put the total above the high water mark. Political leaders say that the election showed that the Progressives, at least more than 80 per cent of them, returned to the Republican party.

Carl E. Miliken led the Republican ticket, defeating Governor Oakley C. Curtis, seeking re-election, by a plurality of more than 13,000.

The Revised Vote.

The revised vote for governor, United States senators and congressmen follows:

Governor: Miliken, Rep., 79,902. Curtis, Dem., 66,547. United States senators: Hale, Rep., 78,044. Fernald, Rep., 79,368. Johnson, Dem., 68,273. Sills, Dem., 66,832. Congressmen: Goodall, Rep., 19,732. Stevens, Dem., 16,103. White, Rep., 19,167. McGillicuddy, Dem., 18,770. Peters, Rep., 21,820. Bunker, Dem., 18,277. Hersey, Rep., 15,066. Pierce, Dem., 11,013.

A big feature of the election was the defeat of Congressman Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston for re-election. The vote between him and his opponent, Wallace H. White, Jr., was close.

Five hundred and ninety-three precincts out of 635 in Maine gave Miliken 79,902 and Curtis 66,547. Democratic Senator Charles F. Johnson was swamped by Col. Frederick Hale for the United States senate by an estimated plurality of ten thousand.

Former Governor Fernald, Republican candidate for the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Burleigh, is the winner over Kenneth C. Sills by over 12,000.

In addition to White, the Republicans elected these congressmen: L. B. Goodall, John A. Peters and Ira G. Hersey.

The victory was hailed with acclamation by the Republican leaders, who declared it augured a certain triumph for the party in the national election in November.

The returns show a Republican gain of about 35 per cent over the vote of 1914 and a Democratic gain of about 7 per cent.

How Militia Voted.

The result of balloting by the second Maine regiment, at Laredo, Tex., were received today. The vote was as follows:

For United States senator (long term) Hale, Republican 297; Johnson (Democrat) 167.

For United States senator (short term) Fernald, Republican, 305; Sills, Democrat, 161.

For governor, Miliken, Republican, 300; Curtis, Democrat, 167.

For congress: Goodall, Republican, 7; Stevens, Democrat, 3.

White, Republican, 64; McGillicuddy, Democrat, 38.

Peters, Republican, 102; Bunker, Democrat, 46.

Hersey, Republican, 132; Pierce, Democrat, 76.

WAR AT A GLANCE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris—Greek cabinet resigned. All allied troops on Salonika front have taken offensive. German attack south of Somme repulsed.

London—Artillery actions on Somme front. British forces successful on Salonika front. Reported Bulgarians retreating.

Berlin—Admitted British captured Ghazly in Somme region. Russian attacks repulsed.

Petrograd—Bulgarians won successes at two points against Russians. Also defeated Turks.

Constantinople—Turks defeated Russians in Armenia and in Mesopotamia.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, Sept. 12.—A Reuters despatch from Amsterdam states that the German authorities in Belgium have offered rewards totaling $11,750 for the betrayal of the editors and publishers of the newspaper Libre Belgique (Free Belgium). The newspaper is said to be written and published in a motor car.

TRACTION LINES BADLY CRIPPLED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 12.—The general strike situation today was, from the viewpoint of the transportation-seeking public, worse than at any other time. There was a marked diminution in the number of trains operated in the subway and on the elevated lines. Service on both was far below normal. On the surface lines transportation was completely crippled.

The traction officials kept the surface cars in the barns until 7 a.m., an hour later than usual. When they were sent out with crews that had remained loyal their number was wholly inadequate to accommodate the thousands that have used them daily in going to work.

The traction companies claimed to be making progress, but the strike leaders answered this by pointing out the diminished service on the subway and elevated, and made the counterclaim that hundreds of employees who had at first remained loyal had joined the union ranks.

Abandonment of the plan to call out all the trade unions in New York city and limit the proposed sympathetic strike to labor organizations directly concerned with the operations of the traction companies had the effect of turning public sentiment toward the strikers. If the sympathetic strike is finally decided upon it will effect only between 60,000 and 70,000 men, including engineers, firemen, longshoremen and power plant employees.

During the forenoon conditions on the elevated and subway lines materially bettered, the service becoming slightly more than normal. On the subway seventy trains were run, as against 64 yesterday, and on the elevated 144 trains were carrying passengers, five more than yesterday.

Threats to call out traction employees on Staten Island will not be carried out until Thursday, union leaders announced. An ultimatum has been served on the company operating there embodying the same demands as were made on the New York Railways Company.

Union leaders gave emphatic denial of reports that organizer Fitzgerald and President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, had quarrelled over the manner in which the strike was being conducted.

Hugh Frayne, state organizer of the federation, characterized the report as a "dastardly lie inspired by the railway officials for the purpose of injuring the strikers' cause."

Disorder developed at many points during the forenoon, particularly on the West Side. At 55th street and Ninth avenue a brick was hurled through a car window, broken glass cutting a passenger.

Police reserves were called out to quell several small riots in 6th and 7th avenues about 28th street. The employees of many large shops in this district are in full sympathy with the strikers.

GREEK CABINET HAS RESIGNED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Sept. 12.—The Greek cabinet, headed by Premier Alexander Zaimis, has resigned, it was officially announced here today. This clears the way for the return to power of Eleutherios Venizelos, staunch supporter of the Entente Allies and leader in the movement to align Greece in active war operations against the Central Powers.

It is reported, but not yet officially confirmed, that Venizelos will assume the post of minister of war as well as that of premier. French officials believe that Greek participation in the war is now certain.

Zaimis, strong supporter of King Constantine's declared policy of "benevolent neutrality toward the Entente," is credited with having kept Greece out of the war up to this time. The cabinet which he headed was formed on October 7, 1915. Zaimis also held the post of foreign minister and it is possible he may retain this post in the new cabinet.

Despite his opposition to Greek participation in the war, Zaimis is regarded as a friend of the Entente. He threatened to resign last November when the chamber of deputies, influenced by Venizelos, declined to give the government a vote of confidence. He was persuaded by King Constantine to retain his post.

St. John's Vestry Active.

So much interest is being shown by the community in the matter of building a theater immediately adjacent to St. John's Episcopal Church on Wall street that the vestry wish to state that they are taking proper steps to take care of the situation, and they are much encouraged in their efforts by the hearty co-operation of the clergy and people of the other churches as well as of many prominent citizens. Already many who believe that an ordinance should be passed prohibiting the operation of a theater within 200 feet of any church in our municipality have taken the pains to express their sentiments to the committee of the common council having this matter in charge. This is a case where intelligent public opinion may not be entirely disregarded.

"Well, I reckon he will find out next November!"

SHIPPING BOARD TO BE APPOINTED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Quick action in putting the recently enacted shipping bill into operation was promised today. President Wilson is expected to announce the appointment of the shipping board within several days and the provision of the act will then be carried out without delay.

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida, who had charge of the bill in the senate, said today that despite the activity of all shippers throughout the country, the shipping board would be able to obtain contracts for commencing the building of ships authorized in the act early in January. Many more ships can be started in March, he said. Shipyards will be able to complete 7,000 ton merchantmen in nine months, he said, and by the time the war is over the United States will be able to supply bottoms for her own trade in meeting the fierce competition expected after the world conflict.

Supporters of the bill especially are anxious to have it in early operation as a means of strengthening the position of the United States in carrying out the retaliatory amendments in both the shipping bill and revenue bill. The more rapidly the provisions of the bill are made effective, they pointed out, the more effectively the United States will be able to deal with the allied blacklists and boycotts.

"We really need 7,000,000 tons of shipping," said Senator Fletcher, "to take care of the enormous freight trade we are building up. We already have about 2,000,000 tons, and the shipping bill will give us 500,000 tons more. This will at least give us a start."

The department of commerce already is preparing to turn over to the new board all of the shipping disputes now being submitted to it. The department now has under consideration a demand for more liberal treatment of American shipping in the Pacific, filed by officials of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. The Pacific Mail has decided to make an attempt to resume its trans-Pacific service, after having abandoned its business following enactment of the Seaman's law. In their communication to the department, officials of the line say that unless the government places its power and authority behind them "as the Japanese government does with its merchant lines, the Pacific traffic will be entirely abandoned to the Japanese concern."

The Pacific Mail officials say they have been enabled to resume service only because of the high ocean freights caused by the European war.

Shares in Bowdoin Trust.

It is said that among those who will share in the Sylvia Ann Howard trust fund, released by the death of Mrs. Hetty Green, is Rev. Charles Hewland Cookman of the St. James, a former pastor of the St. James M. E. Church. The amount to be divided is said to reach the sum of $1,250,000. Mr. Cookman inherits his share of the estate through his mother, who was a Howard.

PROVISIONS OF NEW PENSION LAW

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

The widows' pension bill, which passed the senate Thursday, after having been passed by the house, affects many widows in Kingston and vicinity.

The act gives to widows of officers or enlisted men, who served in the Civil War, the Mexican war or the war of 1912, and who have reached the age of 70 years, pensions of $20 a month instead of the present $12 a month.

Widows of Civil War soldiers dropped because of marriage to other persons, are restored to the roll by the bill.

Reduced to its simplest form there are four provisions in the bill as follows:

1. It gives $20 a month to all Civil War widows who were married to their husbands during their husband's service. This will include many who were married to their husbands when the latter came home on furlough, also to many thousands of young women who married their husbands when they enlisted during the latter period of the war.

2. All widows of veterans who have now reached or may reach the age of 70 years will receive $20 a month.

3. All widows of Civil War veterans who were dropped by reason of their remarriage, and who again became widows, either by reason of the divorce, for which they were not to blame, will be restored to their pensionable status.

4. The limitation on marriages is extended 15 years, from 1890 to 1905. This extension of 15 years, it is hoped, will include the great mass of those who married their husbands after the passage of the act of 1890.

Hughes Arrives in Albany.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Sept. 12.—The Hughes special, with the Republican presidential candidate on board arrived here at 3:30 o'clock this morning from Syracuse and was side tracked until shortly before 7 a.m. when the private car and two sleepers were assigned to the candidate's party were coupled on the rear end of the train leaving here for Plattsburgh at 7 o'clock. During the stay of Mr. Hughes in the city he had no visitors and no one left the cars.

Newburgh Firemen Fast Lot.

Because one piece of its motor-driven fire apparatus responded to an alarm at the rate of 45 miles an hour, Newburgh authorities have issued orders to fire department motor drivers to keep within 30 miles an hour, hereafter. The speeding truck narrowly escaped doing damage a thousand times greater than that done by the small blaze it was called to extinguish. A traffic cop also narrowly escaped being run down.

Man Passed State Exam.

Miss Ruth Terwilliger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Terwilliger of 329 East Union street, who recently graduated from the Homeopathic Hospital at Yonkers, has received word that she has passed the state regents' nurses' examination.

FINANCING MEXICO IS FOREMOST NOW

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New London, Sept. 12.—Agreement on a plan for mutual protection of the Mexican-American border was practically assured today. All proposals of ways and means submitted by the commissions representing both countries were under consideration at today's joint session, and from a source close to both commissions it was learned that a modification including the best features of two border protection plans is most likely to be recommended.

No action will be taken until after General Tasker H. Bliss has given both commissions his personal observations on the condition of the border gathered during his inspection of the American troops there.

Unless his statements are strongly against the plan, it is likely that the Pershing column an agreement will be approved by the American and Carranza governments to guard the border with an equal number of the troops of both countries, with joint permission to cross the border in active pursuit of bandits, the troops to be stationed at cantonments somewhat back from the border line on each side.

The need of financing Mexico is still the foremost consideration with the Mexican contingent. They are perfecting their three plans for securing money. These plans are:

1.—A loan to be negotiated through American bankers and sold by them here.

2.—A domestic loan, part of which will be sold outside of Mexico.

3.—An entirely new internal revenue system with no change in the import duties now in effect.

The first of these plans, when proposed to American banking interests, aroused little enthusiasm. They believe that a $100,000,000 Mexican loan could not be sold here, and their capital would be impaired to the extent of the unsold bonds.

The Mexican commissioners themselves have little faith in the second plan, except as a last resource, because of the impoverished condition of most of the Mexican people. The last named proposition, they believe, is the most likely to meet with success. Encouragement of mining and ranching interests and the imposition of a revenue raising tax, in connection with the scientific development of the government sisal monopoly may resurrect Mexican financially, the Mexican representatives believe, to the point where either a domestic loan for a comparatively small amount could be negotiated successfully.

No change can be made in the import duties with the idea of raising revenue, because all of such revenue is pledged to cover the Diaz and Huerta loans—62 per cent for the former and the balance for the latter.

The Mexican commission is scheduled to call on President Wilson at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

TRAGEDY DUE TO GREEN MOTORMAN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 12.—The first tragedy of the traction strike opened the sixth day of the struggle between the carmen's union and the transportation companies of the city. A trolley car operated by a "green" motorman got beyond control as it started down a grade at 174th street and Boston Road, crashing into two jitney busses. Two persons were killed and nine injured. Four of the injured were so badly hurt that their death is believed to be only a matter of a few hours.

Almost as soon as the car left the barn it was noticed that the motorman was unable to control it. Several passengers on board clung to their seats in terror. The car gained momentum as it swept down the grade and after travelling three blocks jumped the track at a curve.

The runaway car first struck a jitney owned by Julius Grossman in which there were three passengers. The auto was capsized as the car struck it and Grossman and his passengers were thrown to the pavement.

Continuing its way the car smashed into a jitney owned by Charles E. Gates, a lumbenmer of Unionport, who was taking ten of his employees to work. Gates and his passengers were thrown out of the auto and smashed to the ground.

The car finally brought up against a water standpipe on the sidewalk. Hurry calls were sent for ambulances as soon as the double disaster occurred. One of the victims was jammed under the forward trucks of the car, dead. His body was extricated by a fire company called to the scene.

The injured, five suffering with fractured skulls, were rushed to Fordham Hospital, but one died in the ambulance.

TRADE EMBARGOES AS LAST WEAPON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 12.—The administration commenced preparations for putting into effect the retaliatory provisions of the recently enacted trade law in the event that diplomatic negotiations fail to put an end to discrimination against American commerce.

All of the commercial branches of the federal government already have well under way a detailed inquiry to develop specific cases of trade discrimination, to be submitted to the state department as a basis for retaliation, should retaliation be decided necessary.

While the diplomatic negotiations now in progress as to the use of the British censorship as a means of meeting American trade competition continue no retaliatory steps will be taken. But if these negotiations fail to bring about a settlement, then President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing will consider the advisability of establishing the trade embargo authority in the revenue law.

Secretary Lansing admitted today that the department was making a careful study of the effect of the retaliatory authorizations, but that pending the diplomatic negotiations they would not be made effective.

Meantime the department of commerce and the treasury department are compiling statements of the extent of discrimination against American trade resulting from the commercial policy of the Entente Powers.

Cases where bona fide American merchants have suffered through the blacklist will be prepared as a basis for retaliation against the shipping lines responsible for the discrimination.

KOHLINARIS MECCA OF THE SHRINERS

Amid much noise, music and confetti the Kingston Shriners Association left for Poughkeepsie this morning for their annual outing and eat-fest.

The Kingston delegation was accompanied by several members from Albany and a delegation from Middletown. According to the program the Shriners marched from the Eagle Hotel to the O. & W. station, where the Orange county delegation joined them and after boarding trolley cars they rode to Rondout and boarded the yacht Gardner for the Bridge City.

The parade was headed by the Sanguinetti Concert Band and their progress marked by confetti and colored streamers, the members, each wearing the Red Fez, began the triumphant march to the Bridge City. Ideal weather prevailed and nothing was allowed to mar the pleasure of the day's outing.

Company M Drill Tonight.

The second drill of Company M for the season of 1916-17, will be held tonight. The men will be required to attend 48 drills during the year for which, at the end of that period they will receive $15. It is understood that in the event of missing a drill the tardy one will forfeit his drill pay and will be fined by a court of commissioned officers.

ACCIDENT MARRED SHRINERS' OUTING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Frank Byer Caught Between Trolley Car and Automobile in Main Street and Badly Bruised.

A shadow was cast upon the outing of the Shriners this morning before the assemblage had left the Eagle hotel to parade to the O. & W. station to meet the Middletown delegation, when Frank Byer, who was to accompany the merry makers, met with an accident. The Shriners had assembled in the street when a trolley car bound down Main street caught Mr. Byer between the running board and an automobile which was standing near the curb. Mr. Byer probably did not see the automobile and had stepped back from the trolley to find his way blocked. Before the car could be stopped he had been jammed about the legs and knocked down between the two vehicles.

Several onlookers and brother Shriners picked Mr. Byer up and he was taken to his home on Fair street when a doctor was summoned.

Although Mr. Byer was not seriously injured, the injuries are painful and he was confined to his bed during the day. The flesh below the knees is badly bruised and only the fact that the trolley car was running slow prevented more serious injury.

NECK BROKEN BY FALL FROM HORSE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Alexander Molnar, 16 years old, son of Alexander Molnar of East Kingston, died Monday afternoon from injuries received while at work on Terry's brickyard at that place. Molnar was driving one of the horses used in hauling cars from the clay bank to the pit. He had just brought one car to the bank and on starting back after another car he urged his horse into a gallop.

The horse stumbled and fell and rider and horse rolled over and over down an embankment, and when the other workmen reached the scene they found Molnar on the ground with the horse lying across his body. The young man's neck had been broken and he sustained a fractured skull. He died half an hour later. Dr. Gillette and Dr. Eastman were summoned but found Molnar beyond medical aid. The funeral was held this afternoon from St. Coleman's Church with interment in St. Mary's cemetery, this city.

Navigation Interests Only Ones Concerned With Federal Officers' Hearing to be Held at Albany.

Mayor Canfield has received notice of a public hearing to be held at Albany on Monday, September 25, on the application of the Hudson River Connecting Railroad Corporation for permission to construct a bridge across the Hudson river at Castleton.

The hearing will be held before Major James F. Bell at the court chambers, Federal building, Broadway and State street, Albany, N. Y., on Monday, September 25, 1916, at 10 o'clock a.m. in the matter of the proposed construction of railroad bridge by the Hudson River Connecting Railroad Corporation, across the Hudson river about ten miles south of Albany, just below the village of Castleton, N. Y., with a view to giving those interested in the navigation on the Hudson river at that point an opportunity to be heard in relation to the proposed plans for the construction.

The United States is interested in the proposed structure only insofar as the interests of the navigation on the Hudson river are concerned; and the hearing to be held will be confined to matters relating to or affecting such navigation.

The district officer desires that parties interested in this matter appear or be represented at the hearing and present their views on the subject, as set forth in preceding paragraph. While the district engineer officer will gladly listen to oral arguments, important facts and statistics intended for his consideration in his deliberations should be prepared in advance, in writing, and submitted at the hearing.

Wilson Declines to Comment.

PEACHES FOR WINTER.

There are few who can resist the spicy pickled peach which is so delicious served with the meat course.

Pickled Peaches.—There are any number of good recipes, but we must be careful about the vinegar. It should be strong enough to preserve and give flavor, but too acid a vinegar will spoil the fruit. Usually, a little water added to the vinegar to dilute it, using the amount of liquid required, will improve it. Take two pounds of brown sugar, a pint of mild vinegar and a tablespoonful each of cinnamon and cloves; tie in a muslin bag, cook 20 minutes, then drop in the peaches (that have been rubbed with a coarse towel to remove the fuzz), a few at a time and cook until soft; drop into the crock and continue until all are cooked. Cover with the vinegar leaving the spice bag in the jar.

Peach Jam.—This is especially fine flavored, as the steam is not allowed to escape, carrying with it much of the fruit. Pare the peaches and wash them to a pulp, add two cupfuls of sugar to three of the pulp and mix well; pack into pint jars and screw down the top tightly; place in a steamer or any convenience for canning and cook until all the juice is absorbed by the fruit. Place in the can for a day or two and then it will be ready to put away.

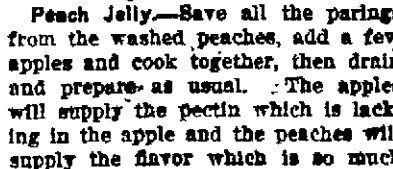

Peaches for canning should be firm but ripe, placed in the cans and covered with a hot sirup, then put into a boiler of boiling water and allowed to stand well covered overnight, the fruit will keep well and be of fine flavor and color. A fireless cooker is a good convenience to use for a small number of cans. The cans and covers should be thoroughly sterilized and the rubbers dipped into boiling water before being used.

Peach Jelly.—Save all the parings from the washed peaches, add a few apples and cook together, then drain and prepare as usual. The apples will supply the pectin which is lacking in the apple and the peaches will supply the flavor which is so much enjoyed.

The Greatest Cut Price Sale on all Kinds of WALL PAPER

The times are hard and everything is advancing in price as well as wall paper. This is your chance to get wall paper at almost what it costs to make it. All coloring in wall paper has advanced in price, but I placed my order for wall paper early, before the price advanced, and I am going to give you the benefit in this cut price sale. You all know C. B. Newell, the wall paper man, that he will do just as he agrees. I will give you the prices on the best imported oatmeal paper, 16 yards to a roll, 20 inches wide, 48 cents a roll. The best domestic oatmeal, 16 yards to a roll, 30 cents to 35 cents a roll; all cut out border to match, at prices way below the other fellow. We start the regular line of wall paper at 8 cents a double roll and border. By the roll to match, at the same price, I will say I will sell you wall paper at 25 per cent to 50 per cent less on a dollar than any other man in the city. All the latest styles. Call and get prices before buying elsewhere, and save money. We carry a larger line of wall paper decorations ever shown in this city.

HIT SPEEDY TRAIL FOR YELLOWSTONE

Charles A. Warren Carries Message to Gasoline Garcia in Record Time and Puts Pep Into Preparedness Experiment.

Carrying the War Department's message from Plymouth Rock, Mass., to Puget Sound, on the Pacific, under the auspices of the Yellowstone Trail Association, was accomplished through the Kingston District, from the Rhinecliff ferry to Phoenix, by Charles A. Warren in his gray MacFarlan runabout Monday afternoon in forty-one minutes, which included the time required to attend to a brake which caught fire while near Kenosha Lake on the Northern Ashokan Boulevard. This work required four and a half minutes, so that the actual running time for the twenty-eight miles was thirty-six and one-half minutes. For some time the trip from coast to coast has been accomplished by various automobile manufacturers, but sometime ago the Yellowstone Trail Association undertook to arrange for carrying a message between the points mentioned to demonstrate the time required in carrying a message or individual in case of necessity. The plan was approved by the War Department, and as long carried out by it, under the auspices of the association.

"Rob" Made Special Trip. The start from Plymouth was made at noon on Monday, and the distance from Plymouth to Rhinecliff, a distance of 236 miles, was covered in record time. At Rhinecliff the messenger was met by the "Rob" of the Cornell Steamboat company which made a special trip across the river for the purpose, occupying eight minutes in the trip from Rhinecliff to the ferry house on the strand, where it touched at 5:15 p. m.

One minute was required to get the leather wallet containing the message and the American flag and Yellowstone Trail pennant, accompanying it, and at 5:56 Mr. Warren started on his trip to Phoenix. He crossed the Washington avenue viaduct at 6:01 o'clock. At Kenosha Lake he was compelled to stop on account of one of the brakes getting fire and the work of repair occupying four and one-half minutes, after which he resumed the trip, arriving at Phoenix at 6:30 p. m., when he turned the message over to F. H. Laubie who took up the next lap of the trip in a Mercer runabout.

Carr a Close Follower.

Arthur G. Carr followed Mr. Warren from the West Shore crossing on Broadway in his Corbin runabout, to act as substitute in case of accident. He made exceptionally good time but was prevented from pulling into Phoenix on schedule time on account of a blow-out at Ashokan. The blow-out occurred while he was running about sixty miles an hour and he had to stop for about an hour and a half for the repair. Carr is a wonderful driver and always in absolute control of the car he probably would have been ditched, a fate that undoubtedly would have happened to a less careful driver. On account of this test being conducted by the War Department, permission previously had been obtained from the police of various cities, towns and villages to exceed the ordinary speed limits.

The message left the Kingston District one hour and fifteen minutes ahead of schedule time, but this can may be needed later on the trip to make up for time that may be lost by accidents.

If the schedule of 31 miles an hour is maintained throughout the trip, the message will reach Puget Sound in 120 hours, or five days.

VACANCIES FILLED BY MAYOR.

Rank of Election Officials Determined by Declinations.

Mayor Canfield has made the following appointments of Republican election officials to fill vacancies: Ralph Dadds as inspector of the Second ward in place of Jay W. Rhenbary, who declined; Henry Eighen as poll clerk of the Fourth ward in place of Walter Hoag, who resigned; John Schmidt as poll clerk of the Seventh ward in place of Charles McClung, who declined.

He has also made the following appointments of Democratic election officials to fill vacancies: Samuel Riber as poll clerk of the Sixth ward in place of Maurice H. Friedman who resigned; Frank J. Glenon as poll clerk of the Seventh ward in place of Richard Scherer, who declined.

To Let Marshall Know.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Sept. 12.—Vance C. McCormick, Democratic national chairman, will leave tonight for Indianapolis to attend the formal nomination of Vice-president Thomas R. Marshall, of his re-nomination. Chairman McCormick will go to Chicago before returning to headquarters.

SMALL INCREASES IN PLAGUE CASES

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Sept. 12.—Infantile paralysis cases and deaths showed an increase today, as is usual on Tuesday. There were 38 new cases and 18 deaths in the last 24 hours.

Aside from the mild case of infantile paralysis on Greenhill avenue, Kingston still remains free of the disease, and up to noon today no new and no suspicious cases were reported to Dr. Frank A. Johnston, the health officer.

Schenectady Has Case.

The second case of the disease in Schenectady was reported on Monday afternoon when physicians decided Frank, three year old son of Frank Barbo of 530 Mulford street, was suffering from the disease.

The schools in Schenectady will open on September 25.

Another Death in Newburgh.

The two little sons of the Rev. M. Seymour Purdy of Newburgh have died in less than a week of infantile paralysis. They were four and seven years old. The younger child died on Monday.

Children Hidden in Hearse.

At Hastings, N. Y., health inspectors foiled the attempted smuggling of four children into that village by means of a hearse in which the youngsters were confined. The hearse was stopped and turned back to New York. The children were taken out and transferred to a train to be taken back to the city. The discovery was made by the fact that the curtains inside the hearse were seen to move in a most mysterious manner.

Reports From Middletown.

Monday morning at the office of the health department in Middletown, it was announced that four more cases had been reported from the territory covered by the office, one each at Olive Bridge and Saugerties, Ulster county; one at Spring Valley, Rockland county; and one at Walden. Seventeen cases have already developed in Walden, seven of which have resulted fatally.

Dr. Clark, Smith and Shelley of the state staff went to Chester to investigate a supposed case of the disease.

GOT THE HORSES ASHORE.

And He Didn't Go About It in the Regular Official Way, Either.

In his younger days Sir Bryan Mahon was quite a character in the army and many are the tales that are told of his derring-do and his no less ready resourcefulness in an emergency.

Once, for instance, a lot of horses had to be unloaded at Ismailia. There were no boats and there was shortage of slings, to say nothing of groomsmen, breast girths and all the other queer paraphernalia that disembarking officers take with them.

But Mahon, who is, of course, a son of Erin's Isle, had seen horses disembarked on the wild Irish coast many and many a time in rough and ready fashion, and he knew what they could do when they had to. So, while the others were discussing ways and means below decks, he simply threw these horses overboard.

The animals promptly swam ashore, and while the horror-stricken disembarking officer was looking on aghast, too surprised even for words, Mahon ordered the trumpet for "stables" to be sounded, and every horse promptly lined up on the beach.—London Telegraph.

DRILLED TO PERFECTION.

Secret of the Military Success of "The Madman of the North."

From drill man gets accustomed to doing under any circumstances what has been hammered into his brain time after time till it becomes second nature to him.

Charles XII of Sweden, "the madman of the north," raised most of Europe up the back again and again because his soldiers were drilled to perfection before he let them take the field at a time when there was great neglect of drill in other armies. He valued 1,000 well drilled fighters above 10,000 not so well drilled, and madman or genius, his judgment was vindicated repeatedly in terrible battles.

One night Charles XII was surprised in Poland by an attacking army of 8,000 when his scant force of 600 was sleeping like the dead from the exhaustion of a hard march. Before his outposts and sentinels could be driven in his small band was aroused, mounted, formed in battle line—all in pitchy blackness—and swung into a fierce charge upon the enemy. By daylight the Russians and Poles who had thought to eat him up were virtually annihilated.—Westminster Gazette.

FRUIT INDUSTRY IN EMPIRE STATE

Commissioner of Agriculture Charles S. Wilson announces that Bulletin 79—"The Fruit Industry in New York State"—in two large volumes is now ready for distribution. The bulletin was prepared under the supervision of Edward Van Alstyne, director of Farmers' Institutes. Those on the mailing list of the department will receive copies. Others interested can obtain them by writing. This—as are all the bulletins of the department—is free to all citizens of the state. With the possible exception of Bulletin 44—"Questions at Farmers' Institutes"—this is the most voluminous and comprehensive bulletin issued by the Bureau of Farmers' Institutes.

Volume 1 contains matter relating to the horticultural interests of the state as a whole, including an article by Prof. U. P. Hendrick, horticulturalist at the state experiment station describing the fruit districts of the state. The balance of this volume is devoted to the apple, with a leading article by Commissioner of Agriculture Wilson on "The Introduction of the Apple into America," and New York State. There are 354 pages, consisting of 38 articles by 36 contributors, all specialists in their particular lines. There are 123 illustrations. Volume 2 takes up the other fruits of the state and contains 456 pages with 54 articles by as many authors with 130 illustrations. In every case varieties with their peculiar characteristics, cultural methods, treatment for insects and diseases, are taken up with statistical tables showing the production in the different counties.

Berries in Woodstock. Walter S. Mower is now picking his second crop of St. Regis raspberries. On September 12th he picked eight quarts.

The Old Story. "Did Hardjacks bear his misfortune like a man?" "Exactly like one. He blamed it all on his wife."—Judge.

It is the peculiarity of a fool to be quick in seeing the faults of others while he is blind to his own.

Blunders in Quotation.

Errors of quotation are common in speech and writing. Byron quoted Shakespeare, "An eagle towering in his pride of place." But what Shakespeare wrote was, "A falcon towering in his pride of place." Milton wrote not "as thick as leaves in Vailambrosa," but "thick as autumnal leaves that strow the brooks in Vailambrosa," not "fresh fields and pastures new," but "fresh woods." Nathaniel Lee did not write, "When Greek meets Greek then comes the tug of war," but "When Greek joins Greeks, then was the tug of war," a very different thing. Doubtless, however, the modification of phrases by popular usage is not wholly evil; it certainly is inevitable. As saying, "Let us eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die," is of curious origin. The preacher in Ecclesiastes says, "A man hath no better thing under the earth than to eat and to drink and be merry." Isaiah, "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we shall die." Luke, "Take thine ease, eat, drink and be merry."—Indianapolis News.

How Clouds Are Colored.

The color of a cloud depends on the manner in which the sunlight falls upon it and the position of the observer. It will be noticed that high clouds are always white or light in color, and this is because the light by which they are seen is reflected from the under surface by the numberless drops of moisture which go to form the cloud. Heavy rain clouds, on the other hand, are found much nearer the earth, and so the light falls on them more directly from above, giving a silver lining to the cloud, though the under surface appears black, owing to the complete reflection and absorption of the light by the upper layers. Seen from above by an observer in a balloon the blackest rain clouds appear of the most dazzling brilliant white.

Duels in Greenland.

In Greenland when one man has been insulted by another the adversaries each compose a satire in verse. This each man recites to his household until the servants and the women know it by heart. Then a place of meeting is appointed. The two men, the insulter and insulted, the offender and the offended, stand face to face, and each recites his poem. His friends and servants form a chorus. Each man tries hard to raise the laugh against his adversary. Each man speaks in turn, whipping the enemy with epigram and quip, and after two hours of this wordy battle the meeting gives the victory to him of the two adversaries who has amused the whole assembly most.

An Odd Team.

Over one of the trails of the Sahara desert the queerest of teams is employed in drawing a two wheeled cart which carries light freight. The team consists of a camel and a small mule, and, while the loads may be unevenly distributed between them, the mates never disagree. Each draws his portion of the load, the camel loping along with great strides, while the mule trots beside him.

Nature's Moth Ball.

If some botanical wizard could effect a "cross" between this wild flower of the fields and some of the agricultural crops the farmer wouldn't need to worry about summer droughts. If the corn crop, for example, had some of this flower's power of resisting dry weather the farmer could fill his silos and corncribs with little trouble. The flower is the moth mullein.

Like its big sister, the great mullein, it prefers dry, open fields and meadows. Call it a weed if you will, call it an agricultural pest, and it will answer your epithets with stalks of pretty white blossoms. If they grew in a garden you would call them beautiful.

The thick leaves of the plant have long been used by housewives in the country to pack away with winter clothes to keep out moths. So by nature this drought loving flower is a camel; by adaptation it's a moth ball.—Philadelphia North American.

TOPICS NEW YORK IS TALKING ABOUT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 12.—Nearly one thousand million dollars has been the cost to the people of the United States of their experiment in entrusting the affairs of the nation to the Democratic party. The figures have been compiled and presented to the United States senate by Senator Warren, who was chairman of the appropriations committee during the last Democratic administration. Mr. Warren gave the total appropriations for the four years of the Taft administration, and the total for the four years of Democratic administration, in so far as a total had been reached. His figures show just what the Democrats had appropriated on September 7, which leaves out certain additions, including the $25,000,000 which, under the treaty ratified in the closing hours of the session the United States will pay for the Danish West Indies. The figures are as follows:

1910	$994,868,750.94
1911	838,887,924.46
1912	930,822,852.53
1913	935,335,409.06
Total	$3,799,915,756.99

These expenditures do not, in either instance, include expenditures for the Panama Canal. The figures for the years for which the Democrats have made appropriations are as follows:

1914	$1,032,407,588.41
1915	1,094,275,613.55
1916	1,095,537,963.72
1917 (incomplete)	1,624,843,257.93
Total	$4,846,584,423.61

Deducting the expenditures of the Republicans from those of the Democrats, the remainder reaches the enormous total of $1,046,668,666.62. It will be contended, of course, that the increased cost of preparedness should also be deducted. While additional appropriations will go far to counterbalance that item, which amounts at most to $400,000,000, even if that is deducted, there still remains an increase by the Democrats of 746 million dollars for the four years entrusted to their charge. When these figures are read in the light of the Democratic platform its condemnation of Republican extravagance, etc., they afford a striking example of how far the Democracy has failed to square its performances with its promises.

A General Strike.

New York is threatened with a general strike, designed to tie up every industry which employs union labor and to boycott the street railway lines, including the subway and the elevated, on which a strike has been in progress for some days, but without much success on the part of the unions. Samuel Gompers president of the Federation of Labor, was called to New York to consult with the local leaders and apparently disapproved the general strike. Before he came it had been announced that he would be practically head of the strike, but he has made a public statement which he neither advocates nor approves the general strike, although he pledges the sympathy and support of the Federation to the union if they strike. Mayor Mitchell, Oscar Straus and other officials are doing all in their power to avert this general strike, but so far have met with no success. The spectacle of the railway brotherhoods procuring a 25 per cent increase of pay by threatening to tie up the country by a general strike has proved too much for the local unions and they are bent upon striking, whether they have the approval of the president of the Federation of Labor or not.

Railway Wage Law.

Samuel Untermyer, the notorious New York lawyer who has been chosen chief spokesman for President Wilson, has put the administration in a curious plight by indignantly asserting that the law recently passed by congress at Mr. Wilson's dictation is not a "wage" law but an "eight-hour law," then outlining the law, explaining that it compels the railroads to pay ten hour wages for eight hours work, without seeking in any way to limit the railway employees day to eight hours, and finally pointing out that the law does not become a law until January 1, so that in the meantime the congress will have ample time to determine whether or not it is just. Not only does Mr. Untermyer's second statement completely contradict his first and prove that the law is essentially a wage increase law and nothing else, but by his suggestion that there is time for congress to reconsider its action and repeal the law before it goes into effect, he has aroused grave suspicion on the part of the labor leaders as to whether President Wilson and the Democratic majorities have not hoodwinked them, after all; and to whether the real purpose of the president and his Democratic friends was not to pass a law designed to attract the labor vote at the election and repeal it on the ground that it has been found unjust, next December, when the election will be a thing of the past.

Farmers Will Bear Burden.

On the farmers of the country will fall the heaviest burden if congress does not repeal Mr. Wilson's wage increase bill is the contention of Henry N. Pope, President of the Association of State Presidents of the Farmer's Union. Mr. Pope says that the farmers of the country stand for fair wages and an eight-hour day, but that when they find "the highest paid laborers in the world demanding a 25-per cent increase and congress hastening to their relief, the farmers are thoroughly dissatisfied." Mr. Pope declares that the increased freight rates advocated by President Wilson are certain to fall most heavily on the farmers because they are compelled to ship practically all of their products, because of their bulk, etc. Mr. Pope asserts that the railway employees so benefited enjoy incomes far in excess to those enjoyed by farmers and that "the average farm income is only $1.47 a day, out of which must be paid the expenses of the family." Referring to the proposed increase of freight rates, he says, "This increase must, in the end, rest upon the back of the farmer and will reduce his income, increase his hours of labor and call for another levy of farm mothers from the home to the field."

Wont Offend Carranza.

Because he fears that the statements of fact which General Scott, the chief of staff, might make would offend "General" Carranza, President Wilson has ordered that General Scott be kept away from the New London Conference and General Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff, has been sent there as military adviser. General Scott, it will be recalled, went to the Mexican border and conferred with the Mexican General, Obregon. He is, therefore, the best informed man on the subject and might anger the representatives of Carranza by telling the truth. Of course General Scott can make no protest because the office of chief of staff is filled by the president and with an officer supposed to be agreeable to him. General Scott's brother officers, however, bitterly resent the humiliation which has been put upon him as a result of the administration's subservience to the Mexican chief bandit.

Girls to Give College Play.

At the meeting of the Westminster Guild of the Roundout Presbyterian Church, held in the chapel of the church Monday evening, much enthusiasm was shown by the young ladies, in the work of the Guild for the coming season. Quite a little sewing was done on the infants' clothing being made for Alaskan babies. It was decided that all garments must be completed and brought to the October meeting. In addition it was planned that the Guild should give a very entertaining college play on the evening of Friday, October 6.

Use Wooden Bowl.

When washing silver use a wooden tub or bowl if possible. There will then be less danger of the silver getting scratched.

ALBANY SPECIALIST

Makes Marvelous Cures
Will see patients in Kingston
EVERY FRIDAY
AT 340 BROADWAY

Dr. Swinburne of Albany

Has had such a remarkable success in treatment of difficult cases that many patients have been cured, even after other doctors declared them incurable. If you are suffering from any trouble and your family physician does not cure, it is time to see a specialist without further delay. It is not necessary now, to go to New York to consult a specialist, for you can see Dr. Swinburne in Kingston at 340 Broadway, every Friday, and in most cases the results will be better and save the expense and trouble of going to New York. The treatment given by Dr. Swinburne is most effective and has cured many cases, even after New York specialists had failed.

No matter how much you are suffering or how severe your trouble may be, you have not half tried to get well unless you have given this noted specialist a trial. It will cost nothing to see the doctor and talk over your trouble, and if you desire to take treatment the charges will be reasonable.

The doctor has permanent offices at 340 Broadway, Kingston, where patients can secure consultation on Fridays from 9 to 12 a. m., and 1 to 4 p. m. Also Thursday evenings, 6:30 to 8 p. m.

CHAMBER PLANS A BETTER KINGSTON BY BIG CAMPAIGN

American City Bureau to Undertake Industrial Survey of City and Expansion of Chamber of Commerce's Field of Effort—Cooperation of Citizens to be Energetically Sought.

How the Kingston Chamber of Commerce can become a foremost figure in the life of the community and realize to the utmost its possibilities for building up the city industrially and socially was outlined Monday night to the Chamber of Commerce directors at city hall by Roy S. Smith, a vice-president of the American City Bureau, whose proposition to conduct a campaign of education and expansion in behalf of the local body was unanimously accepted. The date of the movement will be announced later, the month of November being favored.

An industrial survey by a corps of experts from the American City Bureau which will occupy nearly a month, followed by a week's campaign for extension of the influence of the chamber and building up its membership, are the conspicuous features. The idea is to put Kingston on the map in the Hudson Valley and at home to educate its people to the advantages offered right here, and to make possible a united front in favor of every movement for the progress of the city same as is evidenced in less conservative communities.

Lack of System Fatal.

It is an ambitious program but in the lexicon of the American City Bureau there is no such word as fail. Mr. Smith was most sanguine in his views on local possibilities along the lines mentioned. Introduced by President Leighton who told the thirty odd members assembled in the mayor's office something of the problems of the organization in keeping the public confidence and support. Mr. Smith traced the history of Chambers of Commerce and kindred organizations from the first of these bodies. A voluntary organization of business men to serve the community, the speaker said that these early bodies lacked system and inspiration as well.

The building and development of a city, he pointed out, is in reality the biggest business in that city. Cities in the past, like Topsy, "just grew" but within the last decade a new system has developed for the intelligent direction and fostering of the desires of a community to grow along sound economic, architectural and civic lines.

New Profession Recognized.

In the old days the work of the secretary of the average Chamber of Commerce, he said, was to collect dues and attend to casual routine whereas today the work is recognized as a profession in itself. Harvard University and other colleges having courses for the training of just such officials. The work of the summer school for such secretaries on Lake Cayuga was also mentioned with other facts showing the importance with which this special line of endeavor is now invested.

The duty of every Kingston man, the speaker said, was to build up Kingston and make it better for those who follow. The old idea of a board of trade's interest in this connection was for that body to assist in businessmen's conventions, take up subscription lists for this or that enterprise and in short to fuss along without any conception of the importance of planning for the future.

Like a Mercantile Middle.

As an economic proposition, the man who interested himself in Kingston and shouldered his share of the burden in making it greater did as commendable service as the man who shouldered a gun and goes to the defense of his country. The conflict and competition between cities today is such as to make it imperative that each city have an energetic, live body of business and professional men ready to work for the city's interest on a moment's notice. That was a point made by the speaker who emphasized the importance of having a large body of men in the membership and all active in the work. This is exactly the opposite of the present method of operation by which the directors do all the work and the membership takes little interest and less of the burden.

Men Not Advantages Count.

The development of Kingston consciousness made possible by the newer methods was glowingly pictured by Mr. Smith who cited the work of John W. W. in Elmira and in Ohio and of Mr. Patterson of the National Cash Register Company to say nothing of Detroit captains of industry.

"It is the men who build cities, not the natural advantages," he declared, and cited a number of places where the truth of this statement has been borne out. It is the attractiveness of the community that in a tremendous measure governs its growth and welfare. The advertising of this attractiveness is another necessity for success.

Tax Rate Counts Little.

A low tax rate is not the biggest advantage, nor necessarily cheap land or the improved streets the best attractions for an industrial enterprise. The main things considered by managers of the big concerns looking for new locations is the prospect for labor, whether such labor will be contented after establishment of the plant and when other things such as water supply, schools, police, etc., are equal, the place with the ideal residence conditions gets the factory. The low tax rate as a magnet has been exploded, he said, and cited the fact that the tax item in the cost of manufacture is less than one per cent of the overhead charge.

No Longer on Defensive.

The sphere of the Chamber of Commerce has changed, Mr. Smith pointed out and these organizations are no longer on the defensive but take the offensive as well. The financial burden entailed by greater activities on the part of the Chamber in reality amounted to less than the cost of a ten cent cigar a day to the members and he cited the necessity for increased funds as well as the small burden thus entailed on the individual members. The most important work in the community deserved more attention and more support, he said, and once the public was educated up to that view the rest was easy.

"Show me a self-satisfied community and I will show you a dying community" was another of the many shafts which the speaker shot at his hearers in his most entertaining talk. He submitted a table of figures showing that what Kingston is paying for the work of its Chamber of Commerce amounted to but 12 cents per capita of its population. Orlando, Florida, the table showed, pays at the rate of $1.26 per capita. Lockport, N. Y., 70 cents; Ithaca, 75 cents; Kingston, 12 cents; Albany and Yonkers, 12 cents; Elmira, 18; Cohoes, 5.

Members Do Their Share. In support of his contention for larger membership, Mr. Smith mentioned the experience in many cities of this state and the middle west in support of his declaration that a Chamber of Commerce killed efficiency once its directors do all the work. He told of the method of monthly referendums, the division of membership into geographical groups with telephone calls divided among district delegates so that on a half hour's notice the entire membership could be called together. Elmira in four years landed 19 factories, added 5,000 people to its population and made great strides through the adoption of the newer methods. The same is true of other places, the transformation of Lockport into a millennial municipality through a well-directed campaign being also cited.

In conclusion the speaker rained home his point that commercial bodies should not endeavor to seek industries solely but make the community attractive, realize to the utmost on its present assets and plan for the future to make that the greatest possibility.

Mr. Carl's Question.

Mr. Smith remarks were applauded and questions followed. Herbert Carl wanted to know if the speaker could tell why with all its acknowledged advantages, progressive men and beautiful women, Kingston had not progressed more rapidly. The speaker said that the industrial survey by the bureau would develop any shortcomings that the local situation may present, also that he would go after the men rather than the industries in the city.

Mr. Kearney Approves.

Former President John B. Kearney heartily endorsed the line of Mr. Smith's argument, stating that he had remained at the head of the chamber he would have inaugurated just such a plan and further, he endorsed his successor's effort. John E. Mahar moved that the matter be approved and referred to the executive committee which motion was amended by L. F. Bannan and by Mr. Kearney, both of whom favored getting under way with the proposition. The amendment was accepted and the executive committee empowered to close up a contract with the American City Bureau.

Praise for Newspapers.

"The first thing we do," said Mr. Smith in explaining preliminary steps to the campaign, "after deciding upon a date is to secure the co-operation of the newspapers for without that you can do nothing. I want to say right here, gentlemen, that the newspapers are the greatest force in the community for building it up."

Details of the campaign will be announced within the next ten days. Any month outside of the summer months and December are favored by the American City Bureau but it is already dated up for nearly two years with gaps for this fall. It was said that a contract had been closed with Middletown.

Would Resign as Director.

Among other business before the board was the resignation of Arthur C. Connelly as a director. Mr. Connelly stating his opinion in a letter that he believed it a good thing to change the personnel occasionally and that he thought some other member could serve acceptably in his place on the board. Mr. Connelly is chairman of the Committee on Legislation and has made the place more than an ornamental post, hence on motion of Herbert Carl the resignation was laid on the table and efforts will be made to have Mr. Connelly reconsider.

A report from the executive committee in regard to the Remington Motors, Inc. was read and endorsed by unanimous vote. The proposition submitted by the chamber to the promoters is that it will give two per cent of the total pay roll clerical and mechanical toward taxes on the company's property for five years from the time operations are actually begun. Thus the new company will be given aid based on its performances and the plan seemed to meet with the approval of all present. The Remington people, who claim to have the backing of prominent New Yorkers in their move to reopen the Kingston plant, are now considering the project.

Industrial visits by the directors and members, to which the public is also invited, will be resumed this month and Secretary Canfield spoke of these inspections. Dr. Sailer's Sanitarium, the H. W. Palen's Sons plant, the Gas and Electric Company, the W. R. Harrison building and the new Charobian shirt factory are the proposed objectives for the fall series of visits and invitations will probably be accepted at an early date.

A proposition from the Single Tax League of New York to send a speaker to Kingston without expense to the chamber was mentioned and action left to the officers. Adjournment followed Mr. Smith's speech which was followed by the informal discussion noted.

ACCORD.

Accord, Sept. 11.—Alphonso Decker is spending some time in Kingston as the guest of the county.

E. C. Maynard of the firm of F. S. Maynard & Son, New York city, spent several days in town last week looking after the fruit prospects.

He had retired apparently as well as usual but in the space of twenty minutes he passed away. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved. Funeral will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at his late residence.

William D. Smith is having a barn erected on his property near the old school.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Schoonmaker of Wallkill visited friends in this place Saturday and Sunday.

REVIVAL IN RONDOUT.

Rondout Ministers Plan an Evangelistic Campaign Next Winter.

A meeting of the pastors of a number of the churches in Rondout and vicinity to consider the ways and means for promoting an evangelistic campaign in the Rondout part of the city the coming winter was held at the home of Dr. Fuller, pastor of the Rondout Baptist Church, on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. There were present Rev. P. C. Weyant, of Trinity M. E. Church; Rev. A. K. Fuller, D. D., of the Rondout Baptist Church; Rev. W. F. Stowe, of the Church of the Comforter, Rev. C. G. Ellis, Ph.D., of the Rondout Presbyterian Church; Rev. F. W. Moot, of the Ponckhockie Union Church; Rev. E. A. Bookhout, of the Port Jervis M. E. Church and the Rev. John Anthony, of the South Rondout M. E. Church. After some discussion in view of the fact that it had been many years since a concerted evangelistic campaign had been conducted in this part of the city, the meeting was on record, unanimously, with the following resolution: "Resolved, that in the fear of God and with an eye single to His glory, we, the pastors assembled, feeling the need of an evangelistic campaign in our part of the city, put ourselves on record as being willing to do what we can to further such a campaign." Dr. Fuller, Mr. Weyant and Dr. Ellis were thereupon appointed a committee to correspond with evangelists. It was further decided to call a meeting of representatives from each of the churches interested for Monday evening, September 18, at 7:30, in the chapel of the Rondout Baptist Church.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

1745—A Charming Gown For Dinner or Theatre.—Waist 1745; Skirt 1746.

For this development ladies' waist pattern 1745 and ladies' skirt pattern 1746 was used. The waist has shaped fronts, turned back to form revers in low neck style. The skirt may be finished with or without the drapery. The sleeve is close-fitting in wrist length, and has a flare cuff extension in short length. Either style is pleasing and attractive. Gaborine, taffeta, crepe, linen, batiste, gingham and chambray are nice for this style. The waist pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 35, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. The skirt is cut in 5 sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. It requires 8 1/2 yards of 36 inch material with the drapery; without, it will require one yard less for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures 3 yards at the foot.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents FOR EACH pattern, in silver or stamps, by The Freeman Pattern Department. Be sure to state size wanted.

OPERA HOUSE WEDNESDAY

Also BILLIE BURKE in Chapter No. 10.

Sam
says:

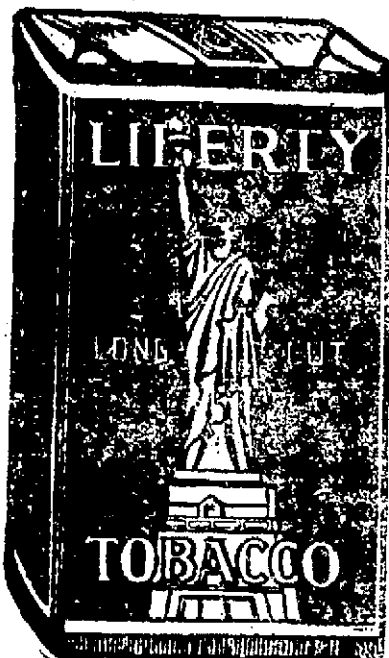

"One day a pal o' mine handed me his package of LIBERTY Long Cut an' I loaded my old pipe and smoked up on it.

"Pretty soon I began to throw back my shoulders an' wish a grizzly bear'd come along so's I could choke him to death an' tear his hide off.

"Gee, man! You could have smelt my rubber heels scorchin' when I hot-footed it down the street that night to plank down my nickel for a package o' LIBERTY."

LIBERTY hits the spot in a grown-up man because it's made of that rare old Kentucky Long Leaf—and nothing else.

All long, clean, ripe, perfect leaves—no short, broken ones—no hard stems. It's tobacco—just tobacco.

LIBERTY is aged from three to five years to bring out the ripe, snappy flavor—the smoothness and the rich juiciness. That's why it makes such a tasty, solid, lasting chew—why it gives you a long, full-flavored, satisfying smoke.

TRAINING CADETS IN GREAT BRITAIN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, Sept. 12.—Training of cadets at Great Britain's two "West Points," Sandhurst and Woolwich, is quite a different matter from what it was in times of peace. In pre-war days the shortest time cadets spent here before getting commissions was eighteen months. Now the minimum is six months.

And even this period may be abbreviated if the great army in the field calls for officers in a hurry.

There are no vacations for cadets or instructors—nothing but hustle, hustle, hustle.

As between the Royal Military College at Sandhurst and the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich, practically the only difference is that at the latter establishments in the engineers and artillery, more thoroughly grounded in the science appertaining to their particular branches of the service.

Sandhurst, which by the way, is an exceptionally gloomy barrack-like building situated in exceptionally pleasant surroundings—near Camberley, Surrey, there are usually several hundred cadets, and they are organized in companies on the same basis as a battalion of infantry.

Specially selected officers of the Regular Army act as company commanders. They have the power of inflicting certain punishments on the cadets for breaches of discipline; but as the cadets are deemed to be gentlemen, and are designed for a career the primary duty of which is to lead men, the company commanders are expected to maintain discipline among them by gaining their esteem and respect rather than by punitive measures.

Rustication, and the sentencing of a cadet to lose places in the list of successful candidates for commissions are the heaviest punishments for minor offences. Removal from the college is a punishment reserved for more serious offences; but a cadet may be "removed" for other than disciplinary offences—for any of the following reasons: (1) Moral or physical unfitness. (2) Unsatisfactory progress in his studies, or physical exercises. (3) If reported by the commandant as not likely to become an efficient officer.

Expulsion is the gravest punishment that may be inflicted and is, naturally, inflicted only in extremely serious cases. The name of an expelled cadet is recorded at the war office, and is made known to the first lord of the admiralty, the secretary of state for India, and the civil service commissioners, in order to prevent the expelled youth from subsequently entertaining the naval or military service, or home, colonial, or Indian civil service.

To take some of the disciplinary and routine work off the shoulders of the company commanders (who are also instructors) promotion to non-commissioned rank is granted to a number of cadets in each company, and one cadet is given the rank of under-officer. The latter acts as a subaltern to his company commander and assists him greatly in maintaining the general tone of the company. The under-officer's job is much sought after, because it carries with it a good many little privileges, as well as an accession of dignity.

In order to encourage industry in study, a medal is granted to each of the two qualified cadets of each half yearly batch, while a sword is bestowed on the cadet considered to be the best qualified cadet of the year.

The principal subjects in which practical as well as theoretical instruction is imparted to cadets at the college are military field works (fortifications, bridge-building, demolitions, etc.), tactics, and topography (sketching, map reading and making, etc.). In addition drill, riding and gymnastics are also taught.

The theoretical instruction is given to the cadets in the "hall of study" as the schoolroom is termed, but the practical demonstrations of all matters that are dealt with, theoretically in the "hall of study."

It is not, of course, all discipline and work at the college, for every sort of healthy sport and recreation is encouraged, and, as a matter of fact, encouraged to a certain extent. Anything however in the shape of gambling or extravagance is very sternly discountenanced; the rules in this respect might, indeed be said to verge on the sanctimonious, so very stringent are they.

At one time the cadets used to be a favorite mark for racing tipsters' and the moneylender fraternity's alluring circulars, but are not so any longer. The reason they have ceased to be so is because a cadet who now receives such circulars is under strict injunctions to report the fact, and ill results thereby ensue to the tipsters.

Extravagance also at one time held a very gay reign at the college, but was banished because of its bad moral effects on the wealthy lads, and because it made the position of the poorer cadets so embarrassing. Now no cadet is allowed to even incur a messing bill (over and above the ordinary mess charges of 75 cents a day which the government pays) of more than $15 a month—including beer and wine, on which he may not spend a greater sum than 25 cents a day—without the sanction of his company officer. This sanction is given only on special occasions, such as for the purpose of entertaining a guest.

Neither horse, ponies, nor dogs are allowed to be kept by the cadets. Nor are the embryo officers, much as sport is encouraged among them, permitted to ride at race meetings, play polo, or hunt the game on the estate.

Afternoon tea with each other is one "dissipation" which is allowed the cadets, but nothing in the shape of intoxicating liquor is permitted to be introduced into their rooms. Lights in rooms have to be turned out at 10:30 p. m., except on Saturdays and Sunday, when an extra half hour's grace is granted. Under-officers may, however, keep a light burning for another hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kelly and son have returned to their home in West New York, after spending a few weeks with Charles Kelly.

Mrs. Burke and daughter, Mrs. F. Van Valkenburg of Poughkeepsie are spending some time with Mrs. Burke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Laundry.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coutant and Miss Ethel Coutant called on Mr. and Mrs. Norman Coutant at Port Ewen on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Bunje of Jersey City were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bunje on Sunday, returning to Jersey City on the evening train and taking with them their little son Harold, who has been visiting his grandparents since last May.

The tax list for the school taxes has been received and taxes are now payable at the home of the Collector W. J. Rand.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cole and little daughter of Jersey City were the guests of Mrs. Augustus Cole a few days last week.

Henry Knoll entertained a number of his friends in honor of his birthday on Saturday evening.

John Gattie has returned to his home in Brooklyn, after spending his vacation with his family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bunje.

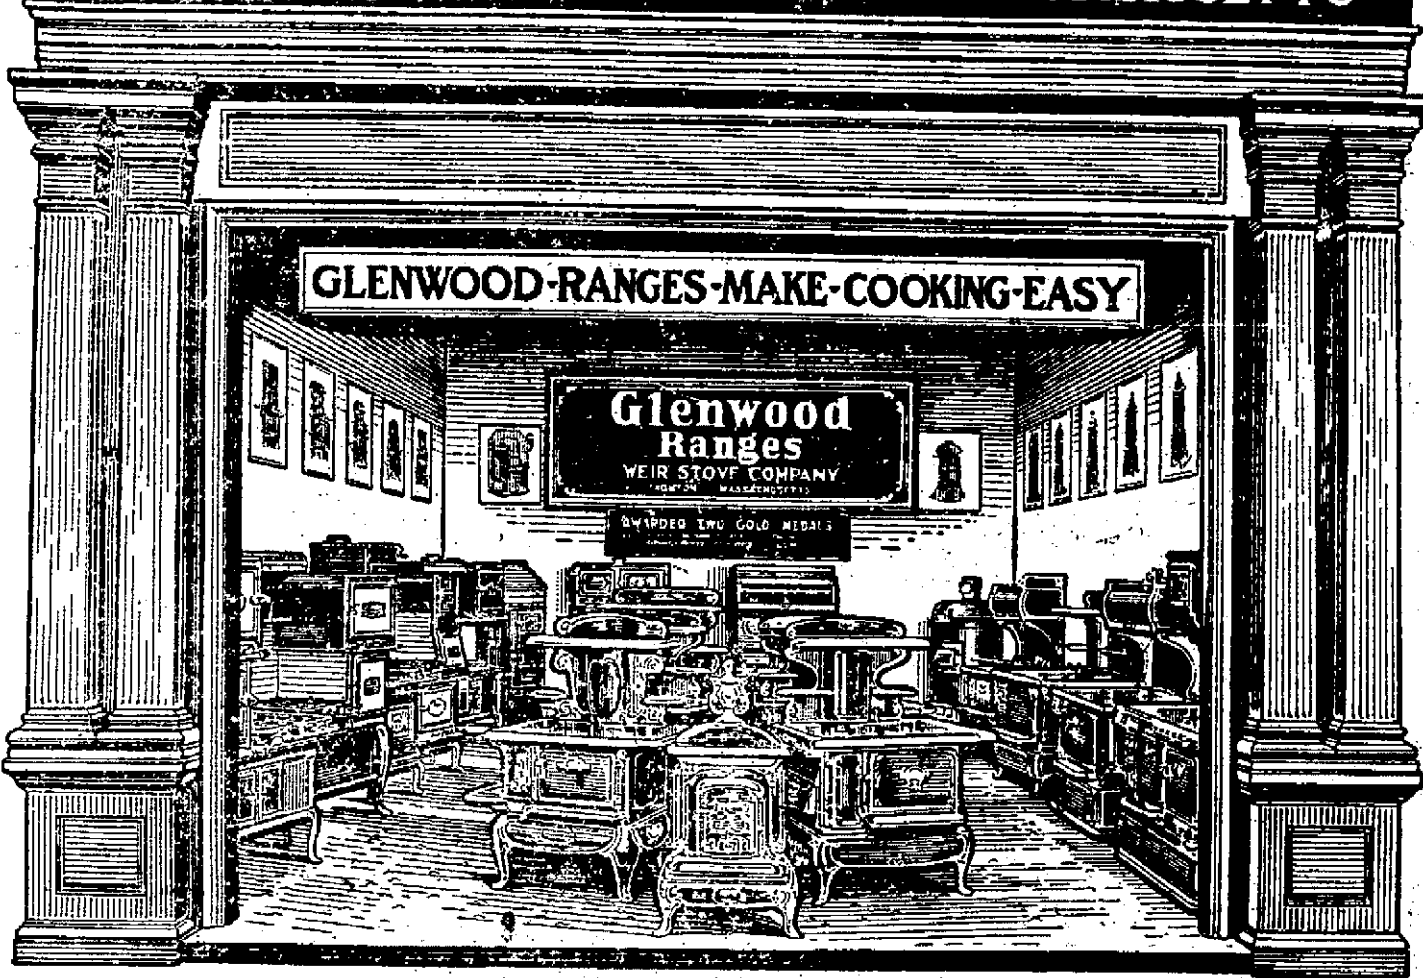

Milk a Pain Killer.

"Everybody should know that milk is a 'pain killer,'" says Farm and Fire-side, "first because it gives almost immediate relief, and second, because milk or cream is nearly always available. If a person should get far in the eyes put in a few drops of milk or cream. It will also afford great relief if cement or a gnat should get in the eyes."

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Sept. 11.—Don't forget the festival on Tuesday evening, September 12, at the Methodist Church. No one need remain away on account of the cool weather, as the basement will be used.

Vincent Bullen is expected home soon. He has been absent since the last of June.

Mrs. Hession and Miss Conner of Edenville were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John House last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schoonmaker of Marlborough, their son, Ray, and daughter, Isabelle, called on Mr. and Mrs. Bullen on Sunday.

Mrs. S. E. Mott left for Newburgh on Thursday last for a few days' sojourn with relatives at that place.

While there she will visit Rev. William Austin and family at Middle Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Coutant of Highland spent Sunday with Mrs. Edward Ashton.

Charles Cosman, wife and children came up from Middle Hope on Sunday and gave Mr. and Mrs. Bullen a short call.

S. E. Mott spent Sunday with Mrs. Mott at the home of his brother, James, in Newburgh.

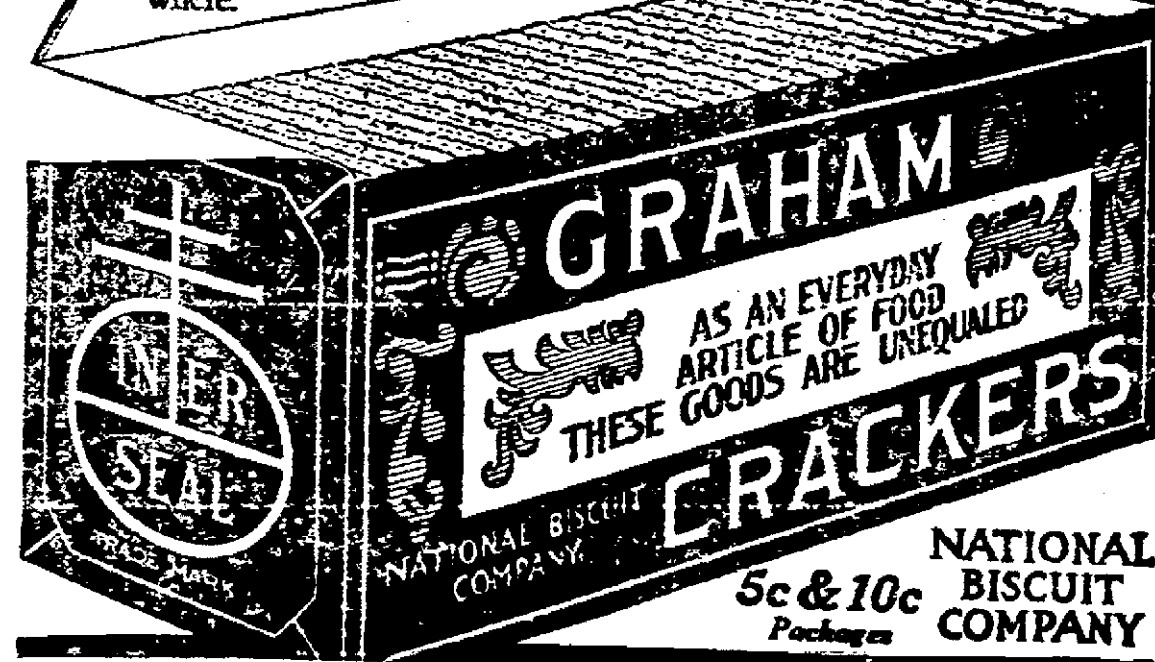

Mrs. Simon Freer has been at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Cealy of Poughkeepsie, during the past week. Mrs. Cealy is suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism.

As there was no service in the Ulster Park Reformed Church on Sunday evening, a goodly number of the young people from there attended the Methodist Church in this village. Their presence at the service was highly appreciated.

The Misses Amy and Anna Parry and William Dwyer all of New York city, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Busted this week.

Louis Low of Oneonta, accompanied by Mrs. Emory Freer and her daughters, Harriett and Grace, motored to Ashokan in a Kingston Cadillac car on Sunday and took dinner at the Watson Hollow Inn. On Saturday Mr. Low and Miss Harriett Freer motored to Newburgh in Miss Freer's car and dined at the Palatine Hotel in celebration of the latter's birthday.

Children love N.B.C. GRAHAM CRACKERS because they taste so good—slightly sweetened to satisfy youngsters' palates. Grown-ups like them because they not only taste good but are nourishing as well. Sold by grocers everywhere.

DON'T FORGET BIG GAME ON WEDNESDAY

Local Cops Will Clash With Fire Laddies at Athletic Field at 3 O'clock That Afternoon—Proceeds For Pardon Funds.

The stage is all set for the big contest on Wednesday afternoon at the Athletic Field when at 3 o'clock the cops will play the paid fire department game of baseball, the proceeds being for the benefit of both pardon funds. It is hardly necessary to say that there will be a big crowd on hand to cheer the teams on. The cops will have twelve men on the field and the fire laddies will have eleven. The probable lineup of the cops will be: Kuhn, catcher; Connelly, shortstop; Simpson, third base; Halsey, pitcher and first base; Reardon, second base; Healy, pitcher and first base; Fort, centerfield and pitcher; Walsh, left field; Philmer, right field; Boyd, right field; Sims Wood, catcher, and Chief Wood, left field. Just what the lineup of the firemen will be is not known. The firemen have been allowed the privilege of securing a battery from among the volunteer members of the fire department. It was at first thought that LaRue Weber would do the twirling for the firemen, but Weber said he would rather make the game interesting and so will not pitch. He was afraid if he did, pitch that the cops would not be able to secure a hit throughout the entire game. Weber is not the only star of the firemen's team, however, as the game tomorrow will show.

It is understood that the health department has agreed to allow the two trained nurses of the board to be on hand to take care of the injured and the city ambulance will also be stationed on the field.

Every one who can should take the afternoon off and see the game. It will be worth seeing. Ask any cop or fireman for a ticket if you have not got one yet, or buy it at the gate.

GLASCO.

Glascos, Sept. 12.—The road leading from Fuller's corner to Schoen-tag's hotel is closed for repairs. All cars and other conveyances on the way from Saugerties to Kingston should keep to the right on reaching the apex of the triangle at Domale Ostrander's farm.

Announcements were received yesterday of the marriage of Miss Mabel Fraxer Longendyke, eldest daughter of the late Addison Longendyke, to Frederick William Collins, which took place at the home of the bride in Brooklyn on Saturday September 9. The Longendykes were former residents of Glasco and have many friends here.

An Italian resident who emigrated to this country a few years ago, and who, by the way, is a jovial old guy of about three score years and as good looking as a brass fence, does not deny the soft impeachment of having been married seven times and at the present time is a widower. Now should this meet the eye of any—now—lone widow who would like an introduction. Enough said. Speaking of marriages reminds us that an early October wedding of one of Glasco's charming daughters to an out of town gentleman is slated as the coming social event.

PURSUIT OF VILLA AGAIN IN PROGRESS

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Sept. 12.—Resumption by American forces under General Pershing of their hunt for Villa yesterday may seriously complicate a satisfactory settlement of the Mexican situation by the Mexican-American joint commission, officials here admitted today. They foresee a possible disagreement in the commission that would upset all of the administration's carefully laid plans and restore the situation to the unsatisfactory diplomatic plan on which it rested preceding the agreement to let a commission seek permanent Mexican-American peace.

With the American soldiers officially reported to be more than fifty miles south of El Valle, where the forces had roamed for months, officials are anxiously awaiting further reports of their movements. The danger of a clash either with Carranza soldiers, who were instructed not to permit the Americans to advance farther southward, or with Villa bandits, who are said to be in large force, is causing grave concern here. A clash of any kind, officials fear, would end all hopes for a settlement by the commission.

Should the Americans be fired on by Carranza soldiers, a situation would arise that would make further meetings by the joint commission purposeless, as in that event it is admitted that this government would not consent to ratify any plan arrived at by the commission.

SAUGERTIES.

Saugerties, Sept. 12.—The annual clam bake of the Esopus Bathing Club of Saugerties was held on their grounds up the creek Sunday. The bake being prepared by Byron Hallenbeck was par excellence.

The wives of the club members were the guests. Large quantities of clams, lobsters, chickens and watermelon were consumed. About 100 participated. Prof. Martin's orchestra furnished a fine musical program.

Spencer L. Davis of John street, Saugerties, and Miss Marguerite Schmitt of Malden, one of the operators at the New York Telephone Company's central office, Saugerties, were married by the Rev. Edwin Dingman at West Camp on Sunday. The newly wedded couple after the ceremony left for Buffalo and Niagara Falls via automobile to spend their honeymoon. The congratulations of their friends will be extended to them.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Ellen Gilmore of Saugerties was held on Monday morning from St. Mary's Church, Saugerties. A requiem mass for the repose of her soul was celebrated, the Rev. James Talbot officiating. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Emmanuel Chapter, No. 517, O. E. S., of Saugerties, will give a musical summer recess on Tuesday evening, September 12.

The Saugerties Concert Band, Prof. Gus. Hoyer, leader, accompanied the Shriner on their annual outing to Poughkeepsie today.

Henry Lasher of Ulster avenue has returned from Syracuse.

W. R. Freiligh of Second street was an Albany visitor on Sunday.

Miss Katherine Wilbur of Partition street is able to be out after a severe illness of several weeks.

Miss Lena McCarthy of Athens, N. Y., is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Clayton Swart, on Partition street.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred MacKullen of Partition street are spending a few days in New York city.

Mrs. William Doyle, Sr., is ill at her home on Main street.

Origin of the Grocer.

The modern grocery store is very well known. The origin of its name is not so well known. Several centuries ago arose in England and France a class of thrifty and foresighted tradesmen who went about buying up bargain lots of every conceivable kind of merchandise, just as the modern American buys fire damaged goods and bankrupt stocks. The Frenchman bought "en gros" and the Englishman came to be called an "engrosser." He might handle hardware, thread, dried vegetables or anything else that could be obtained in large lots, and he began to call himself a "grocer" at a time when our sort of grocer was termed a "spicer." From that beginning comes the name grocer as we know it today.

Vinegar Kills Germs.

Wash and then soak all uncooked vegetables in vinegar if you would escape having typhoid fever. If lettuce, watercress and other greens to be eaten raw be placed in vinegar water (three teaspoonsful of vinegar to a quart of water is the proportion) to soak (immerse) for one hour and a quarter all danger of typhoid fever will be removed. The acidulated water does not mar the flavor of the vegetable.

Richest Language.

Of the 3,224 known languages on earth the completest and the richest in the ways and means of expression is the English. The late distinguished German biologist, Grimm, declared that no other language is comparable to the English.

Music.

The main defect in music is the necessity of reproducing compositions by performing them. If it were as easy to read music as it is to read books, Beethoven's sonatas would be as popular as Schiller's poems.—Fortland Miller.

Derivation.

"Dyspepsia," remarked the student of etymology, "comes from the Greek."

CALLAHAN IS HARD WORKER FOR PIRATES

SKIPPER OF THE PITTSBURGH BUCCANEERS.

Jimmy Callahan has the sympathy of Pittsburgh fans in his fruitless endeavors to get some real baseball out of the bunch of material that he has at his command, writes James J. Long in Pittsburgh Sun. Certain it is not due to any lack of effort on Call's part that the club is not playing better ball. No manager or player ever worked harder for the success of the club.

The skipper is out on the field with the men in morning practice every day and misses no detail of the exercises; it is the same during preliminary practice in the afternoon, and from the time the game starts until the last man is out he is the busiest and hardest working man on the lot. He talks to and tries to encourage the players going to and coming from their positions, and Pittsburgh's turns at bat in every inning finds him out on the coaching lines trying everything to get the Pirates started on a rally or to direct the runners around the bases.

Unlike McGraw and some other pilots, Call does not pose on the lines when his club is winning and hide himself when it is behind. The score doesn't make any difference to him. If his team is ten runs behind he is out working all the harder. The Pirates have played some ball that would drive many a manager to a madhouse, but Callahan has been even tempered and untrifling through it all.

DIAMOND NOTES

Jean Dubuc is pitching grand ball for the Tigers.

Appropriately enough, Otto Knabe has piano legs!

"Jess" Barnes continues to be the mainstay of the Braves' pitching brigade.

Connie Mack's ball-team this year has been welcome everywhere but at home.

"Bert" Niehoff continues to be the star of the Phillies, both on offense and defense.

So far Cincinnati has not made the slightest hint as to C. Mathewson's successor.

Leslie Mann, the Cubs' outfielder, is better than ever, according to "Joe" Tinker.

The manager who makes a pennant drive must hold a tight rein over his players.

Harry Davis steps in and manages the Athletics whenever Connie Mack goes a-scouting.

Mathewson is playing golf as often as he can, for he wants to forget his managerial troubles.

Fred Luderus, the Phillies' first baseman, is said to hit the ball as hard as any man in the game.

Did it ever occur to you that the player with the most speed at night is the slowest in the daytime?

"Connie" Mack denies the report that he has agreed to sell "Joe" Bush, his star pitcher, to the Tigers.

The Cubs have signed a young Pittsburgh rookie named Bell. He ought to make good if he doesn't crack.

If Matty fails to release the Reds from last place, the Cincinnati directors may offer the job to Houdini.

Somebody had the wrong dope when he said the Browns lacked a punch. Isn't a Davenport a "sleep producer"?

If a baseball manager owned all the pitchers in the world he would still want "just one more winning pitcher."

Some people will continue to believe that Matty threw his greatest "fade-away" when he signed with Cincinnati.

After twelve years on the job Bill Klem sagely remarks that umpiring is no sinecure. Most of it is just pure sin.

Jim Scott is about through as a pitcher. He has been able to pitch but one or two creditable games all season.

A wise gambler once said youth will have its day, but Tristram Speaker is one gent who doesn't care a rap who's singing.

According to Jake Dunbert, the only way to bust scientifically is to place the ball so it'll take two outfield relays to get it back to the plate.

Sorrow. Sorrow is not an incident occurring now and then. It is the worst which is woven into the warp of life, and he who has not discerned the divine serenity of sorrow and the profound meaning which is concealed in pain has yet to learn what life is.—F. W. Robertson.

County Court Judge—Are you a friend of the defendant? Witness—No; I'm his mother-in-law.

Happiness at least is not arbitrary. It joys to communicate; it loves others, for it depends on them for its existence.

THEY ATE HIS DINNER.

Small Boys Stole Special Officer O'Neil's Dinner on Monday.

George O'Neil, one of the efficient members of the quarantine squad, is stationed at Kingston Point Park, and on Monday aside from his regular duties he did a little detective work that led to two small boys appearing before Recorder Lang this morning to explain how they happened to eat the quarantine cop's dinner.

It seems that Officer O'Neil is so busy that he has to carry his dinner with him. In order not to interfere with his duties he buys his lunch to one side, as he is blessed with a healthy appetite and the bundle is too bulky to carry around under his arm. Monday after he had performed his usual duties and dinner time rolled around he walked over to where he had placed his dinner for safe keeping, and was astonished to find it was gone.

This was aggravating as it contained some of the best chicken sandwiches ever put up in Kingston. But gone was the dinner and O'Neil had to content himself with a couple of "hot dogs" from a nearby stand. Following the example set by the best detectives, Mr. O'Neil set to work to find who had stolen his dinner.

He discovered a clue in the shape of a finger print and with unerring skill he tracked down the culprit, two small boys. This morning the dinner thieves said that they did not know whose dinner it was they had taken, but thought some excursionist had left it where they found it. They were warned to be more careful in the future and were allowed to go.

M'CORMICK DOING HIS LEVEL BEST

National Chairman of Both Parties Tell Their Opinion of Maine Result—Wilson Cabinet Made Hardest Kind of Fight.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 12.—Arguing in directly opposite directions, the rival national political chairmen here today used the result of the election in Maine to prove the certainty of the election in November of both Woodrow Wilson and Charles E. Hughes.

"When a United States senator wins by only ten thousand, as happened yesterday in Maine, I think it tells a very significant story," said Vance C. McCormick, Democratic national chairman.

"The result, I think, leaves the Republicans nothing to boast about. They fell down. We never expected to carry Maine and the Republicans fell far short of the vote by which they said they would win."

"President Wilson is much stronger in Maine than was the Democratic state ticket. Had the president been running yesterday he would have added 15,000 to the vote."

"Sufficient returns are not at hand to enable accurate figuring and analysis, but it is clear that many Maine Progressives voted with the Democrats, because the Republican total, so far as returns are complete, does not equal the combined Republican and Progressive vote four years ago."

"There is not a doubt in my mind that the Democrats in November will poll 25 per cent of the Progressive vote throughout the country."

The Maine result cannot be taken as a forecast of the national election. In Maine, as in New York, the voters elect their governors and other officials on state and not national issues."

United Says Wilcox.

William R. Wilcox, Republican national chairman, drew entirely different conclusions. He said:

"I regard the election in Maine yesterday as an earnest and an assurance of the election of Hughes and Fairbanks in November. No other construction could be put on the situation."

"The election has proved that we are again a united party. That means success."

"The Maine result justifies our faith in our candidate. The work will be pushed now more vigorously than ever throughout the country."

"Mr. Wilson sent his cabinet into the Maine campaign and made a fight for spoils. The result of the election is the verdict of the state of Maine on the national administration."

LOCAL BOARDS OF HEALTH ON TRIAL

State Health Department Makes Interesting Commentary on Polymyositis and the Work of Prevention in September Health News.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Sept. 12.—Expressing his belief that the most important lessons to be learned from the present epidemic of polymyositis are first, the utter inadequacy of most health districts throughout the state outside of the cities to meet great emergencies, and second, the need for county health organization which shall carry with it the power to establish isolation hospitals for all people of the county, State Commissioner of Health, Herman M. Higgs devotes the entire number of the September Health News to the subject of polymyositis.

"Certain communities, happily a minority, have been brought by sad experience to a realization of the duties of the local health officer, and to an appreciation of the vast powers that have been granted to him by the public health law, as well as the personal qualifications needed to exercise those powers effectively for the protection of the public health. Local boards of health have also been placed on trial and in a great majority of instances have measured up to their responsibility."

In localities in which they have shown themselves essential to the welfare of the public health, or actually obstructive in their attitude toward such measures, it is safe to predict that the people of that community will not fail to record the fact and that they will take action to prevent its recurrence at their earliest opportunity."

What the state department of health is doing to control the epidemic is described at length by Dr. Lunsly R. Williams, Deputy Commissioner of Health. A profusely illustrated article by C. Josephine Durkee, Director of the Division of Public Health Nursing, gives a description of the various emergency hospitals established throughout the state for the isolation and care of patients afflicted with the disease. Three spot maps illustrate the progress of the epidemic throughout the state. Dr. F. M. Meader gives a brief review of the epidemic up to the first of September, together with an analysis of 452 cases.

BODIES OF SEVEN BURIED IN RIVER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Quebec, Sept. 12.—That the bodies of seven victims of yesterday's bridge collapse are still pinned beneath the 5,000 ton span that fell into the St. Lawrence river was the theory advanced today after a vain search for additional dead had been made in the vicinity.

Thus far four bodies have been recovered and the number of dead is officially placed at 11, but several others are not yet definitely accounted for.

An investigation of the cause of the disaster was begun today, but the actual reason for the span's fall may never be known. P. F. Lawrence, president of the St. Lawrence and Dominion Bridge Company, said today that he was unable to explain the disaster, the apparatus that hoisted the span showing no signs of weakness.

The new cases reported were from the following places:

BABY DRANK SOME AMMONIA AT HOME

The year and a half old child of William Martin of Taylor street is recovering from the effects of drinking ammonia last Saturday afternoon and is now out of danger.

Early Saturday afternoon a neighbor borrowed a bottle of ammonia and shortly after five o'clock one of the children returned with the bottle. Mr. and Mrs. Martin with their children were seated on the front porch when the child arrived and the little fellow told Mrs. Martin that he would put the bottle back on a shelf in the rear of the house where it was their custom to keep it. Later in the evening the Martin child was playing about in the rear of the house and opened a bottle containing a fluid finding it and drank part of the contents. Instead of replacing the bottle of ammonia on the shelf earlier in the day the neighbor's child had placed it on the porch and it was there that the young son of Mr. Martin found it.

The child had drunk a part of the contents before the burning fluid caused him to make any outcry. Immediately a doctor was summoned and first aid administered. Upon the arrival of Drs. Quinlan and O'Leary, the child was cared for and although his mouth and throat were seriously burned by the strong ammonia the little fellow is now recovering.

Quinlan and O'Leary, the child was cared for and although his mouth and throat were seriously burned by the strong ammonia the little fellow is now recovering.

BRITISHER HOLDS UP U. S. VESSEL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 12.—Brigadier General Liggett, commander of American military forces in the Philippines, today reported to the war department facts that show a clear violation of American neutrality when a British destroyer held up the American steamer Cebu off Carabao Island early yesterday.

General Liggett reported that the Cebu was a mail and a half inside American territorial waters when she was stopped and boarded. The Cebu's captain was compelled to give Lieut. Bailey, the British commander, the ship's manifest and passenger list.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Sleepy Time Story About a Little Girl's Visit to Fairyland.

A WONDERFUL ADVENTURE.

Beautiful Things She Beheld on a Remarkable Journey—Song That Always Drives Away Lowliness—Other Reading Games For Small People.

New youngsters, said Uncle Ben to little Ned and Polly, I am going to tell you the story of

THE ENCHANTED SHELL.

Myra wandered along the beach, wishing very much that she might see a mermaid, or a merman, or at the very least a sea serpent. She was lonely and wanted something exciting to happen.

"If only the days of fairy tales were not over!" she sighed as she sat down in the hollow of the rocks and rested her curly head against some lovely seaweed dried by the sun. As she looked dreamily out to sea she was startled to hear some one singing close to her ear:

"Oh, don't you know the way To the land of elf and fay? To that fair strand of golden sand? Where it is always day? Then follow, follow me To my cave beneath the sea."

Myra delightedly raised her head to find that the song seemed to come from the mouth of a large, smooth shell lying close to her. As she gazed the shell grew larger and yet larger until it opened invitingly to her.

"Oh, this is too lovely!" cried the little girl, tripping into the shell without much hesitation.

As she tripped down the mysterious passage of the seashell the light grew more and more rosy, the music more beautiful. It was indeed like a song from fairyland which still led her on.

Suddenly the hall widened into a marvelous green chamber, in which grew wonderful sea flowers. On a throne made of pearl sat a very lovely lady, with
